Be Thankful Every Day

Take a minute to be thankful for your life.

Sometimes a good way to get back on track and feeling better is to take a break. You'll need to identify things to be grateful for, and sometimes the break itself is a good reason to be thankful. At work, school, etc., go for a walk around your building or step outside for 15 minutes to breathe the fresh air and muse about how thankful you are for the opportunity to take a break, to stretch your legs, to feel the sun, etc. Take a moment to notice the little things you're thankful for, like your morning cup of coffee or your pillow when you lay down to go to sleep at night.

Tell someone you appreciate them.

So often life gets busy that you forget to tell people how much they matter to you, or that you've noticed what they do and it means a lot to you. Expressing your thanks to others will cultivate an atmosphere of thankfulness that can spread out gradually.

Talk about gratitude with family.

Set aside a time, like the evening meal, to talk about the things you were grateful for that day. Let each family member have a turn to discuss what made them thankful that day.

Give back as part of giving thanks.

Being thankful isn't just about telling people you are thankful — it's also about giving back to your community and friends. This doesn't mean that you give back so that everything is even and no one "owes" anyone anything. Give because it's the right thing to do and because it feels good to do it.

Make sure to say "thank you" regularly.

Thank the person who makes your coffee, thank the person who held the door for you, thank the customer service person who helped you figure out why your phone wasn't working. Speaking the words aloud can help cement the feeling of gratitude in your life. When you say thank you to people, make eye contact and smile so they can feel the sincerity.

Find reasons to be thankful, even when it's difficult.

Sometimes it can be really hard to be thankful in your life. These are the times, however, when it is even more important to cultivate gratitude, because that will help you get through the hard times better than getting angry or upset will. Do not take for granted the many things we have that we did nothing to earn, such as life itself, the beauty of nature, the great country we live in, or the love of our family and friends.

News from Mrs. Orr's 2nd Grade Classroom

The first quarter of school has been very busy! Second grade students have learned how to read and identify all parts of a story's structure in Reading. We have been working on becoming more fluent readers. In Science, we have studied pebbles, sand, and silt. We can identify different types of earth materials and even did a rock search around our school! In Math, we have learned how to measure objects with rulers and are practicing basic addition and subtraction facts. These students are doing a great job of meeting their reading goals for the school year and have earned some great classroom celebrations so far, such as "stinky sock day" and treats from Mrs. Orr. Our year is off to a great start!

Kindergarten News

Things are beginning to pick up pace in the kindergarten world. We have completed learning all of our letter sounds through our Jolly Phonics program. We are now learning to blend sounds together to read and write words. The students are all loving the “big kid” feeling of reading! We have incorporated a few close reading lessons into our comprehension and the students are doing really well with diving deeper into the text to understand characters and story structure. They are also learning some great new vocabulary! In math we just completed a unit on numbers 0-10 and we are now working with 2 and 3 dimensional shapes and positional words. In between working hard we are finding time to make some fun decorations for the hallway and classrooms and we will be doing some fun holiday themed activities over the next couple of months.

Text Alert System

The text alert system has been changed. We will be using your information in Power School to alert you. It is important to have your current phone number and email updated. If you have any questions or issues, please call Sarah Lown in the high school office, 563-922-2091.

Weather Calls

MV reports their school closings and cancellations to 3 TV stations: KGAN (2), KWWL (7) , and KCRG (9), by 6:25 a.m. They also report them to these radio stations: KMCH and KDST When bad weather hits, please turn to one of these TV or radio stations. Please DO NOT call the school. Their lines will be busy contacting personnel, other schools, bus drivers, etc.

Parent/Teacher Conferences

Conferences will be virtual this year using Zoom

They will be Tuesday, November 3 and Thursday, November 5 from 3:00-7:00 both days. The day before your scheduled conference, please download Zoom onto the device you plan to use for conferences so you can connect with your child’s teacher. If you are using a mobile device, Zoom is a free download through the app store. If you are using a computer, you can download Zoom by going to www.zoom.com. The day before your conference, your child’s teacher will email you a zoom link that will connect you for your conference. There will be a virtual waiting room, and the teacher will let you into the conference when it is your scheduled time. Please contact the school if you have any questions on how to download the Zoom application or if you have any questions about connecting for the conference.

Adapted by Janet Allard
From the book by Margery Williams
Produced by special arrangement with

The Maquoketa Valley Drama Department will present Janet Allard's play adaptation of Margery Williams' book The Velveteen Rabbit on Friday, November 6 and Saturday, November 7 at 7 p.m. in the MV auditorium. For those who are fans of the Toy Story franchise, Allard's play mixes a young boy's unconditional love for his toy rabbit with the secret lives of children's toys.

Everything begins on Christmas morning when a boy (Noah DeVore) receives a Velveteen Rabbit (Andrew Hildebrand) in his stocking. Quickly, Velveteen is set aside and the other toys including a Wind-up Ballerina (Allie Dunn), Model Boat (Logan Johnson), Model Airplane (Carlie Lewin), Wooden Lion (Zach Mineart), and Toy Soldier (Madeline Gellersen) tease the rabbit for his simplicity. Only old and wise Skin Horse (Paige Panosh) understands that toys can become real by being loved by a child; Velveteen wants nothing more than this.

Eventually, the boy becomes attached to the rabbit and takes him everywhere. When the boy leaves Velveteen outside one day, he meets real rabbits (Kaela Clemen, Allison Hogan, Kaitlyn Nolan, Addie Rudd, and Josie Teymer) who come to see that he is not like them. The boy insists to Nana (Keziah Ambundo) that Velveteen is real and he needs his toy.

Time passes and the boy and Velveteen go on many adventures; as a result, the rabbit becomes shabby, which leads the other toys to continue to treat him badly. One day, the boy contracts scarlet fever, and the Doctor (Devin Smith) explains to Nana how serious this is. Eventually, the boy recuperates; however, Sam the gardener (Emma Beitz) is asked to take measures to keep the boy safe from this disease.

Can the Nursery Magic Fairy (Amanda Mohr) make Velveteen Rabbit real? This question will be answered on November 6 and 7. Join us for a night filled with magic, adventures, imagination, secret burrows, and talking toys! Tickets ($5 a piece) are sold in advance by calling the high school office at (563)922-2091. Seating will be limited. Masks are required.
